Dual - Master of Arts in Social Sciences

GeT MA is operated by two top universities: the Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin and the Middle East Technical University (METU) in Ankara. Students spend the first year of study at METU before coming to Berlin to finalize their studies. Graduates receive the Dual - Master of Arts in Social Sciences from both universities. Due to the international profile of GeT MA the language of instruction is English. However, students take additional language classes in Turkish, German.

Integrated Internship

The program helps students to enrich their academic experience by providing them with the opportunity to undertake a 3-month internship. Thereby, students gain valuable insight into the professional life.

Academic Program

GeT MA offers academic teaching in a large variety of topics in the field of social sciences such as modernization and democratization, Europeanization and migration. Students deepen their empirical knowledge of political processes using Germany, Turkey and other regions of Europe as examples.

Interdisciplinary Focus

Teaching and research have a unique interdisciplinary focus: the program covers various sub-disciplines in political science as well as sociology while incorporating cultural and economic questions into the course curricula. This approach becomes manifest through the engagement of highly qualified professors from different academic disciplines in the program.

Joint-Teaching

A specific characteristic of GeT MA is the concept of 'Joint-Teaching': Courses taught by faculty from both partner universities. By getting into contact with the experienced teaching staff from Germany and Turkey, GeT MA students become familiar with research topics from different perspectives, experience individual teaching styles and enjoy the assets of the two university systems.

"Get MA is a promising program offering its students a variety of topics for deepening knowledge. I quickly understood that it is not about Germany and Turkey exclusively but on regional studies, history and comparative social sciences in general. This interdisciplinarity fuels expertise, reflective thinking and research. It made me a professional not only academically but also socially while being in contact with so many people with different inputs and perspectives from all over the world." Serap Yilmaz, GeT MA Student 2013-2015 from Germany
